AMERICA'S BEST COMMUNITIES

One way or another we all make investments. We invest money in college funds for our children. We invest in retirement funds. If we were smart we would invest time in keeping fit and physically active. Sometimes we invest our time to work with our church or a sports team or to keep a community pool.

By making an investment of our time or money we are really investing in the future. We are making a commitment to what we think will make the future better for us and our families. It is important to make sure that our investments are made wisely, because a poor investment can have serious ramifications. We should always invest in the best. And that is why we are asking our communities, LeRoy and Bergen to Invest in the Best.

We understand that many of you already invest time and money in our communities, but for a short time, we are asking that you consider making a small - - or large investment that will have a direct impact on our future sustainability.

A committee of volunteers, headed by Donna Friedman and Lori Steinbrenner, who remembered the LeRoy community's efforts to save the pool, has turned their energy to raising $5,000 toward the $15,000 match money required to pay for the economic sustainability plan that is being prepared for the November deadline. They have prepared a donation board filled with 100 envelopes. When each envelope is filled, the donation board is closed and the money will be given to the LeRoy-Bergen America's Best Community project.

The money will be added to the proceeds from the Field to Fork Feast held on September 3, and the $2,000 invested by the Town of Bergen and the $2,000 invested by the Village of LeRoy. The Invest in the Best envelope board will be making the rounds this month. For more information contact Donna Friedman at 768-6419 or Lori Steinbrenner at 944-8766.

LeRotary Notes

The bell rang precisely at 12:15 to open our regular lunch meeting. Immediate Past President Randy filled in for vacationing President Tony. We were joined today by visiting Perry Rotarian Jane Monihan. Announcements included Friday morning make-up meeting with Bob, the Field-to-Fork Feast ABC fund raiser is nearly sold out, our Family Picnic is September 27th and Past Presidents Dinner on September 29th sign-up sheet is going around.

IPP Randy took a few minutes to pass along well deserved appreciation, in the form of certificates, to several. This was made possible, in large part, because of Carol Wolfe. Thank you Carol. Missed meetings were quickly dispatched with Bob Bennett, Bob Carlsen, Jerry McCullough, Tom McGinnis, Tim Moag, Rob Murray, Carol Wolfe and Mary Young all ready with make-ups or green cards.

The fining session started with Bob Bennett's cycling prowess being questioned, then Tom Cox was called on for his latest automotive acquisition. Poor Bob Carlsen (and the rest of Yankee fans everywhere) was so saddened by their recent 15-1 loss to Houston, Randy couldn't fine him and instead had Rob Murray pay Bob's fine. Tom McGinnis paid partly (Ron Pangrazio paid the other part) for the nearly 2,500 lbs. of BBQ chicken he's served up so far this summer. Carol Wolfe was tagged for the weasle in her garage.

Lastly, Larry Boylan was recognized for his 43rd anniversary in Rotary….again. Larry then was introduced as our Program presenter today. To say that Larry has a zest for the socio-economic-political-historic aspects of the world, in general and our country, specifically would be understating a fact. Today Larry capsulated the writings of Colin Woodard. His book "American Nations: A History of the Eleven Rival Regional Cultures" illustrates how North America was settled and the effect that has had on our political landscape. To learn more ... buy the book. In the meantime…please follow us on Facebook.

Primary Care Practice Joins United Memorial

Improving access to care in the Byron Bergen community

The primary care practice of Michael J. Magguilli, MD has joined the family of physician practices managed by United Memorial Medical Center and will continue to see patients at 6966 West Bergen Road, in Bergen, NY. Dr. Magguilli is now a provider employed by United Memorial Medical Center. Patients can continue with the practice and be cared for by Dr. Magguilli at the same office with little to no disruption in service. Nurse Practitioner, Amy Ireland, FNP-C will join Dr. Magguilli in practice.

Located next door to the Gillam Grant Community Center, the facility has undergone extensive renovations and has nearly doubled in size. United Memorial has invested over $800,000 into the practice through remodeling, technology updates and improvements to the interior décor and expansion of the clinical care area. An electronic medical record system will be implemented and additional staff have been added to the practice. During construction, patients were seen in space made available in Gillam Grant. On September 1st, it is expected that the practice will begin to care for patients in the newly completed space.

Dr. Magguilli has practiced locally for 37 years and is Board Certified by the American Board of Family Medicine in Family Medicine. He is a graduate of St. John Fisher College and he received his medical education at the University of Rochester Medical Center. His Residency and Internship were completed at Highland Hospital in Rochester, NY.

Amy Ireland FNP-C has been a Family Nurse Practitioner for 18 years and has worked with United Memorial at its Primary Care Centers, Emergency Department, Urgent Care Centers and the Tonawanda Seneca Family Care Center. She is a native of the Byron area and graduated from Genesee Community College, SUNY Brockport and the University of Buffalo.

United Memorial Medical Center manages a number of physician specialty and primary care practices in Genesee and Orleans Counties, including Batavia Family and Pediatric Care, Tountas Family Care, Cardiology and Internal Medicine, the Pain Center, Women's Care, Genesee Orthopedics and Surgical Associates.

For the first time in approximately 10 years, the practice will open to new patients and almost all insurances will be accepted. To make an appointment, please call (585)494-1300.

"JELL-O Den delikataste deserten"

by Lynne Belluscio

Every two years I attend the European Open Air Museum meeting. I have been attending these meetings for twelve years as a representative of the Association of Living History, Farms and Agricultural Museums. Twelve years ago, we met in Scotland and Northern England, followed by Finland, then Holland and Belgium, Denmark and Germany. This year we met in Norway.

The focus on this year's meeting was the installation of contemporary exhibits at several of the European museums. A museum in Denmark and one in Oslo have moved in buildings from the 1960s and 1970s. There is a lot of discussion about whether this makes sense and whether other museums should follow in that direction.

Many of these museums have previously focused on their native culture and architecture, but the contemporary exhibits allow them to introduce the recent immigrant stories. It would be as if Genesee Country Museum decided to move in a ranch house - even my house from 1969 and furnish it and have a couple of folks "interpret" what it was like growing up in 1969. I still haven't decided whether I think it is a good idea or a fad. But it sure did stir up discussion.

I had the opportunity to talk with some folks from the Czech Republic over dinner one night and met with some old friends from England and Denmark. When we were coming out from one session, Olaf Edin from Sweden came up and said, "I was hoping you were going to be here, because two years ago, in Germany, I promised to send you this, and I never put it in the mail, so I brought it with me, hoping to see you again." What he gave me was a color copy of a Jell-O recipe book, in Swedish. What is more remarkable, is that on the inside it says that it was printed in Stockholm.

Swedish recipe book.

The recipe book is the 1922 Norman Rockwell version with the grandmother on the front and the little girl and her doll on the back page. This is the same illustration used in the French version and the Yiddish version. And I had to ask - - "does the woman in the illustration remind you of your Swedish grandmother?" "Yes she does, Olaf said." And she looks like a Jewish grandmother and I guess a French Canadian mother too.

I'm not sure that Jell-O was never marketed in Europe. All I can think is that when people were getting ready to emigrate from Sweden to the United States, they might have been given a recipe book with American recipes written in Swedish. We have a copy of the same book in Yiddish and in French. The French book was published in Canada. We also know that recipe books were printed in Spanish and some Jell-O boxes were printed in German.

I compared the recipes in Swedish and in English and I think they are different, but since I cannot read Swedish it's hard to tell. However, the last recipe in the English book is Pimento Salad that uses lemon Jell-O and in the Swedish book it's Banan-Sallad. (Banana salad?) that uses raspberry Jell-O. "Da pulvret ar fullkomligt upplost, slas det klara geleet I sma vattenskoljda forma, som fyllas till ¼ varefter massan far stelna." (I have figured out that "apelsin" Jell-O is orange. "Citron" Jell-O is lemon, and "hallon" Jell-O is raspberry. In fact on the back page, the box of Jell-O illustrated is for raspberry – Hallon – Jell-O. So now I need to find a box of Jell-O written in Swedish for the collection!)

If anyone knows someone who could translate the Swedish recipe book, I'd really like to know what it says, especially the inside of the front cover.

Notice the box of Swedish Jell-O.

Le Roy Central School District Implements Biotechnology With $10,000 Grant

America's Farmers Grow Rural Education Grants Support Math and Science Education

Le Roy Central School District has received a $10,000 grant from America's Farmers Grow Rural Education, sponsored by the Monsanto Fund. The district will use the money to purchase new lab equipment and instructional materials, allowing teachers to incorporate advanced, hands-on experiments in upper level science classes for high school students.

Through this enhanced science curriculum, the district will introduce students to higher-level lab activities and spur their interest in biotechnology and other science, technology, engineering and mathematics (STEM) careers.

"The projects will expose students to technology they wouldn't otherwise have access to," said biology teacher Michael Chiulli. "This experience makes them more competitive for colleges and careers, and will hopefully encourage them to stay in the region as the biotechnology sector continues to expand in Western New York."

Farmers who nominated the school district and representatives from the school and the Monsanto Fund attended a check presentation to celebrate the grant during the back-to-school assembly on September 1.

This year the school district also received an educational starter kit from Monsanto Company to help establish a pollinator garden, which will give students first-hand knowledge of the critical role habitat plays in providing bees and butterflies with food, shelter and places to lay eggs.

Since 2011, Grow Rural Education has awarded more than $9 million to help keep rural public school districts growing. The program works with farmers to nominate public school districts to compete for math and science grants of $10,000 or $25,000. Grant applications are reviewed and finalists selected by a panel of teachers. Winning applications are chosen by an advisory council comprised of farmers from across the U.S.

Visit www.GrowRuralEducation.com to see the full list of winners for this year. A sister program, America's Farmers Grow Communities, is currently enrolling farmers for 2016. To sign up, visit www.GrowCommunities.com before Nov. 30.

These programs are part of the America's Farmers initiative. The America's Farmers campaign and programs have advocated on behalf of farmers and their efforts to meet society's needs through agriculture. Today, consumers are more interested than ever in agriculture and how food is grown. Farmers and others in the industry are joining in on the conversation to help raise awareness about agriculture and share their stories with their communities. Learn more at cfiengage.org.

Police Reports

08/30/2015 - A six month investigation by the LeRoy Police Department of an injured two year old child concluded on 08/27/2015 with the arrest of 28 year old Christina Pahura of 6303 Main Rd., Apt 4, Stafford NY.

Pahura was charged with one count each of the D-Felony of Assault in the 2nd Degree and the A-Misdemeanor of Endangering the Welfare of a Child. The investigation started in early February of 2015 when it was discovered that a two year old child had suffered multiple fractures of the leg and arm and significant highly suspicious bruises about the body.

At the conclusion of the investigation, it was alleged that Pahura, having been charged with the care of this child and being more than 18 years of age intentionally caused physical injury to the child, under the age of 7, by striking the child. The injuries occurred while Pahura was living at 9 School Street in the Village of LeRoy.

It was further alleged that Pahura knowingly acted in a manner likely to be injurious to the physical and moral welfare of the child, allowing the child to remain in a residential situation during which numerous suspicious bruises developed along with a sever limp. Pahura was advised to seek medical treatment for the child but failed to do so resulting in further significant bruising and an untreated leg fracture.

09/02/2015 - 29 year old Rebecca L. Santiago of 5955 Main Rd., Stafford was arrested on 09/02/2015 by the LeRoy Police Department and charged with one count of criminal Possession of Stolen Property in the Fourth Degree, a class E-Felony and four counts of Identity Theft in the Third degree, Class A-Misdemeanors. It is alleged that on or about August 8th, 2015, while working as a heath care provider in Livingston County, the suspect stole the credit card of a person under her care and then unlawfully possessed and used the stolen credit card in the Village of LeRoy and other municipalities multiple times. The suspect turned herself into LeRoy Police and was issued an appearance ticket to appear 09/17/2015 in the LeRoy Town Court.

The LeRoy Police worked in conjunction with numerous other agencies during this investigation including the Geneseo Police Department, the Genesee County Sheriff's Office and the City of Batavia Police Department.
